

Marie-Agathe
CHARPAGNE

Program

JOHANNES BRAHMS (1833-1897)

Choral Op. 122, No. 5
Six Klavierstücke, Op. 118

FRANZ LISZT (1811-1886)

Les jeux d'eaux à la Villa d'Este

LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN (1770-1827)

Piano Sonata No. 31 in A-flat major, Op. 110

Marie-Agathe Charpagne, the 2nd prize winner of the 2019 International Piano Competition for Outstanding Amateurs, is not only an incredible pianist with astounding technical capabilities that brings forth nuanced musical colors, but she also holds a PhD in Materials Science and will be starting as an assistant professor at the University of Illinois this fall.

Marie grew up in France where she excelled in both piano and science, studying at the Conservatory of Music while pursuing her scientific studies at the Mines ParisTech engineering school.

AmateurPianistsSM

AmateurPianists is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization located in San Diego, California that provides performance opportunities for amateur pianists of all professions, backgrounds, and skill levels. Since its formation in 2011, membership has grown to over 1,900 piano enthusiasts. Join us as an audience member, or sign up to perform on stage for one of our upcoming events.

Visit us at AmateurPianists.org.